Naperville Libraries Landscape Improvements

Naperville, Illinois

Outside the books.

The Naperville Library hired PHN Architects to assist with their space-planning needs at three public libraries. During this process, the architect identified a need for reviewing some exterior elements. PHN brought in Upland Design to inventory plant materials and propose landscape renovation plans at the two sites where landscape updates were called for. The Naper Boulevard library was built in 1992 and the public library at 95th Street was built in 2003.

At each site the Upland Design team analyzed existing conditions and plant material issues. A report of improvement needs was created and a site improvement plan was developed. Plans include suggested plant removals, new plant installation, irrigation at specific areas and maintenance practice suggestions to help the plants thrive.
