

uplandDesign Ltd
park planning and landscape architecture

go outside™

Van Dyke Place

Commercial Development, Plainfield, Illinois

A place for the community to return to over and over.

Located at an important intersection across from Village Hall in Plainfield, this new commercial development needed a classic streetscape and strong landscape presence. The site includes ten stand alone buildings, shared parking lots, and numerous outdoor spaces to compliment the proposed restaurants.

Each outdoor space and the right of way sidewalks have design elements to keep the space interesting and beautiful while meeting the Village landscape requirements. Elements include planters, limestone reliefs built into brick walls, raised beds, street trees, entry arches, seating, and outdoor dining.

The new plan meets both the Village and the Site Developer's goals to create a place for the community to meet and return to over and over.